Pennsylvania Railroad

From Pittsburgh's steel to Philly's shores,

The Pennsylvania Railroad roars,

Through mountains high and valleys low,

Its iron veins in history flow.

A titan of the tracks it stood,

In times of need, it always could,

Deliver goods, connect the land,

With mighty engines, strong and grand.

Its whistle echoed through the night,

A beacon of industrial might,

From bustling towns to quiet farms,

It carried dreams in iron arms.

Though time has changed its storied path,

Its legacy endures, steadfast,

In every rail and every mile,

The Pennsylvania Railroad’s style.
